Jamie Petrone's Music Theatre Arts'
Private Vocal and Audition Coaching as well as Piano Lessons!*

AUDITION SEASON IS HERE!!

- ? *Are you thinking about auditioning for your school, community, or professional theatre?
Do you know how to choose the right audition song?
Do you give consistent performance level auditions?*

If you want to bring your material to performance level, register now for private lessons while availability lasts. As a professional voice coach with years of experience and training, Jamie will help you:

- ✓ develop the skills to take you beyond the competition
- ✓ ease through vocal registers and own your technique:
proper projection • enunciation • range expansion • tone development proper breathing • vocal health and longevity
- ✓ build a versatile book of music to prepare you for any audition

All lessons are tailored to the student's specific needs and recorded for students to practice with at home.

As a pianist with years of performing, accompanying, and training Jamie's lessons include:

- ✓ reading music, music theory, sight reading, ear training, and harmonization
- ✓ learn to accompany yourself, play as a soloist or in a group, or even just for fun!

Jamie Petrone holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Music Theatre, Shenandoah Conservatory. She is the founding executive director of "Mastering the Audition's Musical Theatre Workshop," and has been teaching private voice and piano lessons for 12 years. Jamie's students have landed roles in both television and film, sung at arenas such as Madison Square Garden, and even starred as Young Simba in Broadway's Original Las Vegas cast of The Lion King. Many of her students are now majoring in both music and musical theatre at some of the most prestigious colleges in the country.
